

Why is the poem written in the first person viewpoint?

- ① It is written in first person viewpoint because it tells us what he is saying to himself and tells us a story of what he ^{did one day} ~~does~~. One of his quotations was, "I sit in the top of the wood, my eyes closed." this means that

What does the poem tell us about human beings?

②

How do the words of the poem support its main message?

The message of the poem is saying that the Hawk is in control of what he does and he can do whatever he wants. He is acting like a predator and wants to eat his prey, one of the quotations was, "I kill where I please because it is all mine." Another quotation is, "My eye has permitted no change. I am going to keep things like this." These two quotations show that the Hawk is the King and "sits on the top of the wood" above everyone else.
